Eckling Grange launches its new website!

“After months of work we are extremely pleased to be able to launch our new website. The new site has been designed to communicate with two groups, not just new people looking for care or accommodation in the future but also as a tool to communicate with the current residents and especially their families and friends...”

(Stewart Barber - General Manager)

Communications improve

As the months go by the news and events section will grow for all to see. The differing services and events and activities will all be advertised on the site. Take a look at the video tours which have been created around the various areas of the Grange. Also within the various web pages and the picture gallery there are many pictures to view which will be added to regularly.

We are very grateful to Paulo Cabrita from 'Creativepan' who has designed the new site and he will continue to work with us in the future.

Talents & Stories

Archie Hall (in the centre) teaches us a new song

During September we had an afternoon gathering in the main lounge where some of the residents talked about some of the events in their life's. This was a great time and even though we knew a lot about each other it was inspiring to learn even more.

We heard from one former missionary who had escaped from China under the threat of Chairman Mo, from another about her experiences during the war. We were entertained with poetry and singing and learnt a new song which one resident had written forty years earlier.

Coach trip to Bressingham

It's been some years since a coach trip has been arranged from the Grange, but in September a group of 25 enjoyed a day out to Bressingham Garden Centre and Steam Museum. Because the coach had disabled access even those who needed a wheel chair were able to go and enjoy a day out.

CQC Inspection 2012

While Stewart was away on holiday in August we received an unannounced inspection by CQC. We are very pleased with their findings and the comments which were made by the residents and their families who were here during the inspection. The full report is available on our website.

Once again the Trustees would like to thank all of the staff for everything they do.
